India Rejects China's Offer To Talk

Fiscal Affairs To Be Put On Annual Basis

HARRISBURG (AP) — An administration-backed move to put the state's fiscal affairs on an annual basis was launched in the House Monday night.

At the same time, different proposals to limit the length of legislative sessions were introduced in both houses.

Soviets Hit French Plan On A-Test

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union claimed Monday that a French atomic bomb test in the Sahara would harm chances for reaching agreement in Geneva on suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

M. D. Yakovlev, the Soviet delegate, made the statement in the 82-nation Political Committee where he expressed full support for a resolution urging France not to hold the test.

He spoke after Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge indicated the United States believes France can conduct the test without danger to the surrounding area.

Lodge's cautiously worded statement avoided outright support of France such as that voiced last week by Britain.

Yakovlev declared, "Lodge's speech was a 'puzzling one, since while minimizing the dangers for mankind, he actually came out in favor of the tests proposed by France.'"

The Soviet delegate referred to the test ban negotiations now taking place in Geneva by U.S., British and Soviet representatives and added:

"It is the duty of every state to take no steps liable to create difficulties in reaching the swift and possible agreement on suspension of nuclear weapons tests."

He said the Soviet Union's decision to suspend tests was conditional on the Western powers doing likewise.

Morocco, which is negotiating with the United States on the future of U.S. bases, is pushing for a resolution urging France not to conduct the test.

Lies Laid To Cuba By Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the second time in less than two weeks the United States bluntly told Cuba's Castro regime Monday it was spreading inaccurate and misleading charges against the U. S. government.

The State Department added that a brochure published by the Cuban ministry of state had become an offensive addition to a campaign of hostility in Cuba.

The Cuban ministry Monday distributed copies of a pamphlet indicating the United States was responsible for the death of 2 persons and injury of 45 in an outbreak of violence in Havana last Oct. 21.

The State Department said eyewitness reports indicate that many, if not all, of the casualties were victims of the Cuban armed forces' own gunfire, or by bombs thrown from automobiles by terrorists.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro has charged the United States did nothing to stop bombing of a defenseless nation.

The department has contended there is no evidence that a plane which left Florida to drop leaflets on Havana also dropped bombs or strafed the Cuban capital.

Quiz Evidence Under Review

NEW YORK (AP) — The Manhattan District Attorney's Office Monday started a review of television quiz show evidence, with the aim of determining who lied.

A spokesman for Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan said findings would be developed with a "view to a grand jury presentation." The implication was that perjury charges might be the result.

The state now draws up its budget for two years at a time, since the Legislature, which must approve it, has been meeting only every two years.

Intent of People
The voters approved annual sessions last week. However, Gov. Lawrence said "it is, in my opinion, clearly the intent of the Legislature and the people that annual budgets would result."

Rep. Stephen McCann, House Democratic leader, introduced, along with the annual budget proposal, a constitutional amendment that would restrict the session in odd-numbered years to six months and in even-numbered years to three months.

The annual sessions amendment approved last week, while it carries no time limit, restricts the business in even-numbered years to fiscal affairs.

McCann said his limitation proposal has administration approval.

Six Months
In the Senate, the proposal to limit legislative sessions uses a figure of six months. It was introduced by Sens. Thomas P. McCreesh (D-Phila.) and Marvin V. Keller (R-Bucks).

Both House and Senate bills on limitation of legislative sessions were in the form of constitutional amendments. Either one would have to be passed by two sessions of the Legislature before being submitted to the voters.

McCreesh said he thought the sessions should be limited to six months rather than three as proposed by Republican leaders.

During the first three months, he said, the Legislature could act on all non-revenue matters while the governor was preparing a budget.

The Philadelphia said the remainder of the session would then be available to concentrate on revenue matters.

He said he felt the proposed three-month session "would be a little too short."

Adjournment
Other legislative developments: Final adjournment—The Democratic leader also announced plans to drive for final adjournment of this 1959 session by next week. It would involve four days of sessions this week and six days next week, winding up Saturday, Nov. 21. But it was doubtful the Senate, controlled by Republicans, would agree to this.

School subsidies—The House rejected by a 95-55 tie vote a Republican attempt to add 15 million dollars to a 55-million-dollar school subsidy proposal.

A final vote on the increases state aid for schools was fixed for Tuesday.

Sunday bowling — The Senate Monday night approved an amendment to exempt bowling from the Sunday Blue Laws.

Wife Stabs Bob Crosby; He Denies Striking Her

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Bob Crosbys agreed Monday they had a fight Saturday night in which handleader Bob was stabbed in the shoulder with a letter opener. But each told a different version.

June Crosby, 39, said her husband, without provocation, punched her with his fists and broke one of her ribs while their eight-year-old daughter watched.

Crosby, 46, brother of crooner Bing, denied striking her and said:

"My wife just blew up. If she was injured it was during the tussle for possession of the letter opener."

Mrs. Crosby told a reporter: "It was terrible. He struck me with his fists. It was just a case of simple assault. There were no words, no provocation."

"It happened many times before. If you live with Bob on the inside, he's not the easy-going Crosby that the public imagines him to be."

Fit Of Rage
Bob, reached at the home of his brother Larry, said:

"It's regrettable. But my wife just blew up. It was the result of a series of family crises. She just built up to it and I don't think she really wanted to injure me with the letter opener. She was in a fit of rage."

Crosby said it took five stitches to close the shoulder wound. He was also scraped on the arm and stomach. His injuries were not serious.

His wife said he has moved out of their home. He at first tried to duck the press.

The Beverly Hills police had this account:

"Call received at 10:47 p.m. Saturday night from Mrs. June Crosby. She and her husband had an argument; that he had thrown her to the floor. She went into the dressing room. He followed her and she had a letter opener with a four-inch blade and when he came in she stuck him in the left shoulder and left forearm twice."

No Charge Filed
"He twisted her wrist and took it away from her and left the house. She reported this damage to herself: Small cut on left hand; small cut in her left arm. No charges filed. No complaint. No action planned unless she files complaint."

The Crosbys have five children, the oldest of which, 20-year-old Cathy, recently was confined to a hospital with a mental breakdown. Cathy had engaged in a widely-publicized feud with her father several years ago about her romance with a 32-year-old Maitre d' at a Sunset Strip restaurant.

Investigators Brave Fumes Of Burned Gasoline Tanker

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Investigators cautiously braved dangerous gasoline fumes Monday to probe the still-hot decks and depths of the buckled and smoldering tanker Amoco Virginia which burned Sunday. Eight men perished and 30 suffered injury.

Firemen said gasoline fumes remained so concentrated the ship could explode at any moment.

Cause of the fire remained undetermined. Dudley S. Hall, operations foreman for Hess, said it started out on a barge, or in the water between the tanker and three barges alongside the vessel.

Hall said he looked up to see flame bearing down from the bow of the ship. He cut the loading tube valves and ran.

"The barge went up first and then the fire jumped to the ship with a whoosh," Hall said.

There also was no damage estimate. Two major explosions and a series of lesser blasts buckled the six-million-dollar tanker and it settled to the mud of the channel. Four barges and a tugboat were destroyed or damaged.

Capt. Claude Phillips of New York City, head of the Amoco marine department, said the near-capacity load prevented the tanker from disintegrating in the heart of one of the nation's largest industrial areas.

"She was almost full," he said. "That's one of the main reasons she didn't explode — I mean really explode. A half-empty ship would have been full of fumes and an invitation to blow sky-high."

Only investigators and a clean-up crew were permitted to enter the Hess Terminal where the Amoco Virginia had tied up.

Fleming's disclosure brought a statement from Ambrose E. Stevens, executive vice president of the National Cranberry Assn., that "We can state that to the best of our knowledge all cranberries in groceries and supermarkets today are pure and wholesome and untainted."

Stevens said "we are shocked that the U.S. government has made public what we consider an inflammatory statement."

He said the disclosure came after the industry had consulted with the government and taken effective steps to remove any danger to the public.

While he reported contamination only of cranberries, Fleming said the Food and Drug Administration is looking into the situation to determine whether any other food crops may have been affected by the weed killer.

The weed killer was identified as aminotriazole.

SOUTH BEND, Wash. (AP) — A county extension agent said Monday residues from a dangerous weed killer sprayed on Washington cranberries since 1957 were so minute they would cause no human harm.

"I would not hesitate to eat all the Washington cranberries I could hold," said Nolan Servoss, Pacific County extension agent and cranberry expert.

Servoss said none of the sprayed berries from the state's 1959 cranberry crop reached the market. Only a small percentage of Washington berries were sprayed last year. Most of the 1957 crop which might have been contaminated was destroyed, but some was marketed.

Chou-Nehru Conference Turned Down

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Red China's Premier Chou En-lai proposed Monday to settle the angry border dispute with India at a personal meeting with Prime Minister Nehru. Indian sources said Chou's new approach is unacceptable.

Refusing to give ground on claims to 40,000 square miles of Himalayan soil India regards as its own, the Chinese Premier suggested both sides pull back their forces 12½ miles in the disputed zone.

Repugnant To India
The entire approach is repugnant to India's stand on its internationally recognized border, an authoritative Indian source said.

Nehru himself mentioned Chou's note in a report to a committee of his Congress Party but expressed no opinion, a committee member reported. Nehru has declared he is willing to negotiate but has never said anything about sitting down with Chou to talk things over.

Chou's note was handed to Nehru Sunday, then broadcast Monday by Peiping radio before its contents were made known here. If he suggested a site for the meeting there was no public mention of it.

The Red Chinese Premier, in urging prompt action on his plan, said "clashes which both sides do not want to see may occur in the future."

Withdrawal
"The Chinese government proposes that, in order to discuss further the boundary question and other questions in the relations between the two countries, the prime ministers of the two countries hold talks in the immediate future," Chou's note said.

Chou suggested that the armed forces of China and India each withdraw 12½ miles at once from the so-called McMahon line.

The McMahon line was drawn in 1914 by Sir Henry McMahon, a British Indian official, to show the border between India and Tibet.

No Chinese government ever has recognized the line. Red China claims territory as far as 80 miles south of the line in India's Northeast Frontier Agency, where some border clashes have occurred.

Lost Party Found Safe

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — A Japanese expedition feared lost in an attempt to scale a mighty, unconquered peak in the Himalayas, is safe, the Foreign Office reported Monday.

Whether the 32-member party became the first to put a man atop 23,440-foot Mt. Gauri Sankar — named for the Hindu god of destruction — remained unanswered.

The climbers had not been heard from since they were about to begin the final assault on the summit five weeks ago. Then came word of fierce avalanches and it was feared the climbers had been swept to their deaths.

The house that burned is in Coatesville's northern section, on the Brandywine Creek, and is the only home in the area.

Officials said the children's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Haywood, died in the burning house and it was feared the children, some distance away, and asked her to call firemen.

DISASTER IN TEXAS—A raging fire shoots black smoke into the air as a series of explosions rip through 12,000-ton oil tanker, Amoco Virginia, at Houston, Texas. Eight men were killed. Fire fighters battled to keep the entire ship from blowing up and spreading a rain of destruction on shore. Many of the injured pushed to hospitals were reported in critical condition.

Steel Industry Reports 30 Percent Back In Jobs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Steel mills, coal mines and ore boats stepped up activity by the hour Monday, inching back into operation after the record 116-day steel strike.

Nearly 30 per cent of the 500,000 steelworkers were back on the job. Iron ore boats, stalled in transit by the steel strike, began moving again on the Great Lakes. Many coal mines reopened.

Most steelworkers appeared happy to be back at work after four months of idleness. Some expressed concern, however, that they may be on strike again with expiration of the 80-day cooling-off period under a Taft-Hartley law injunction.

For the first time in months some steel—that left behind at the start of the strike—rolled from the plants. New steel already was being produced in plants at Cleveland and Lorain, Ohio.

But it will be weeks before new steel moves in any significant amounts. U. S. Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1 producer, hopes to reach 25 per cent of capacity this week.

In Washington, the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service director, Joseph F. Finnegan, said he does not plan to call further formal conferences in the steel dispute for about two weeks.

Finnegan said he would keep trying for a break in the deadlock through informal talks with both sides.

Union Meeting
In Pittsburgh, David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers Union, called for a meeting of the union's Executive Board and Wage Policy Committee in New York Thursday. He said he wanted to give the policy makers a situation report.

In western Pennsylvania captive coal mines employing more than 5,000 resumed operation. An additional 3,100 miners will be recalled Tuesday. Captive mines are those owned by steel companies.

There were problems, too. The biggest is repairing damage to long dormant steel making equipment. Another is weather on the Great Lakes.

Dec. 15 Deadline
The Weather Bureau reports that key channels of the Great Lakes usually are ice-locked by Dec. 15.

And even with the steel mills in full production in four to six weeks, the effects of the strike will be felt for some time.

An estimated 335,000 workers in allied industries were idled by the steel strike and it will be weeks before they return to their jobs. Hardest hit were the railroads and coal mines.

Agencies Face Cut In Funds

THE PEOPLE of Monroe County will have to give $22,206 in the next two weeks to the Community Chest or face the alternative of cutting the allotments to member agencies, already operating on minimum budgets.

That much became clear at the meeting of the Chest's board of directors last night at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. The people of the county have given $64,304.36 toward the quota of $87,510, or just short of 75 percent of their goal.

With Clair Smith, president, presiding, the directors faced up to this problem: not one division has achieved its quota.

Only the East Stroudsburg household-house canvass is within striking distance with only $10.15 needed to reach its goal.

Larger Deficits
For the other divisions the spread is much greater. The resort division, for instance, has contributed only 57 percent of its quota.

Today and tomorrow, the office staff will be combing the files for the names of those who have given in other years and have failed to give this year. Directors and special representatives of each division will try once more. The results will be reported at a special meeting of the directors called for Nov. 23.

In trying to analyze the deficit, Smith pointed out that this year there were 300 workers in the field, enough to cover the county adequately, but the money was still lacking.

One thing that has hurt has been the lag in the industrial division where fewer of the workers have given less than last year when they spurred ahead of previous years. The industrial division stands at only 68 percent of its quota of $26,508.

Higher Percentages
In contrast, trade has reached 85 percent of its quota; professional, 93 percent; public service, 84 percent; Stroudsburg house to house, 70 percent; East Stroudsburg, 97 percent; Barrett 71 percent.

Also falling far short are the clubs and organizations with 66 percent and the county house to house with 63 percent.

Tobychanna Signal Depot personnel have made their contribution but since it also includes contributions to the Red Cross, no report could be given until the gifts are separated into the proper categories.

The meeting was a well-attended one. Attending were President Smith, Elmer Daniels, James Somers, Emerson Stanton, Mrs. Horace Westbrook, Mrs. Edward Knob, Robert Wright, Glenn Sanborn Jr., Leon Koster, Mrs. Eugene Martin, Mrs. Elton Denning, Mrs. Claude Lester, Detlef Hansen, Maxwell Cohen, Clifford Cramer and Ethel West.

In other action, the board approved the request of the Salvation Army to send a letter appealing for Christmas funds.

Pertinent Questions
Smith, in adjourning the meeting, threw two bombshells in the form of questions to be considered at the meeting on Nov. 23:

"If we fail to meet our quota, what do we do?"

"Do we want a Community Chest?"

Mercury Dips To Record Low

SCRANTON (AP) — A record low temperature was recorded here Monday for the second consecutive day. The new low was 23 degrees, three below the record set in 1926.

Sunday it was 22.4, four below the record set a year ago.

It was even colder Monday in nearby Dixon, Wyoming County. The weather station there had a reading of 20 degrees.

Helping Mom

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP) — It was a good thing for Leroy Soper Jr., that his daughter, Patricia, 12, needed help with her homework Monday night.

His wife went to get him in the garage where he had been tuning up his car engine. She found him unconscious from carbon monoxide fumes.

Mrs. Soper dragged him outside. A rescue squad arrived him.

Gym Classes Reorganized At YMCA

GYM AND swim classes for boys and girls between the ages of eight and 14 during after school hours were announced yesterday by the Monroe County YMCA.

Boys' classes will be held on Monday and Wednesday and on Saturday mornings. Girls classes will be on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Older boys and girls may attend evening sessions.

Also in the organizational phase are basketball teams including biddy teams for youths eight through 11, juniors including boys 12 through 14 and older boys' leagues for youths 15 through 19.

Industrial and Senior leagues are both being reorganized this year.

Swim Tryouts

Tryouts for the swimming teams are being held Monday and Wednesday at 4:30 p.m. and at 8 p.m. Wednesday. Practice sessions will start Nov. 23, if sufficient numbers to form a team qualify.

Informal volleyball is played every Wednesday night and a league will be organized within the next month.

Golf instruction will be available later in the season from Ray Lambert. Archery equipment and a range are available in the auxiliary gym.

Adult learn to swim campaigns and life saving courses will be established as demand increases. Fridays at 7 p.m., swimming instruction is given five, six and seven year olds.

Tuesday is women's day with instructions in various activities available. A gym class is scheduled for 10 a.m. on Wednesdays at the same time as the preschool children's dancing class.

Wives Asked To Aid With Inventions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Warm up the stove, mother. The Pentagon needs 300 inventions and the announcement says some of them may be concocted in the kitchen.

The National Inventors Council published a new list Monday of scientific puzzles which civilian inventors are invited to tackle. The council, a Commerce Department agency, acts as go-between for the armed forces and the nation's tinkers.

It said that while the list includes such items as complicated rockets and missiles, some of the needed products may be invented on the kitchen stove.

For example, housewives might want to try preparing instant soups and dressings which would make dehydrated foods more tasty to troops in the field.

Another idea to tax the housewife's talents: Devise a procedure that would permit field laundries to wash a serviceman's socks in water three degrees above freezing.

Just in case laundry problems can't be licked, the Pentagon also wants paper-based clothing that can be thrown away after it gets dirty.

Other inventions wanted include parachutes that can be thrown away after use, insect repellants effective for 12 hours, a material to keep water from collecting in the barrels of rifles and machine guns, and a device to boil a bucket of water in five minutes.

Kunkletown

A card party sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Kunkletown Volunteer Fire Co. will be held in the Community Hall tonight.

Rev. and Mrs. Mark Michael of Gilbert and Arthur Michael, of Dalmatia, called on Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Bohner at the parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beaver, of Union Hill, called on Mr. and Mrs. Adam Meckes.

Parade, Ceremonies To Highlight Observance Of Veterans Day

Schedule Of Events Announced

MEMORIAL services for the dead of all the nation's wars, a parade and presentation of a medal to a young, living hero will highlight Monroe County's observance of Veterans Day tomorrow.

Wreaths will be laid on the monument in front of the American Legion Home in East Stroudsburg at 8:30 a.m. and at the doughboy monument in Stroudsburg's Courthouse Square at 9:15 a.m.

The annual Veterans Day parade will form at the YMCA at 6:30 p.m. and move through the business districts of both boroughs starting at 7 p.m. Four musical groups will be in the line of march.

The parade will break up at Memorial Stadium in East Stroudsburg where there will be a football game between teams in the Midlet League. The contest is called for 8 p.m.

Ceremony At Barrett
The living hero who will be honored is 10-year-old John McCoy, Mountaintop Cub Scout, who will receive the Army and Navy Legion of Valor's Silver Medal at ceremonies at 2:45 p.m. in Barrett School.

Three holders of the Distinguished Service Cross — the nation's second highest decoration for heroism in battle — will be on hand to honor McCoy.

They are Harvey Possinger of Stroudsburg, who recommended the youth for the award and will make the presentation; Lt. Col. (ret) Edward N. Burns of Narberth, who will explain the history of the award, and Frank Osmond, who will accompany Burns here.

McCoy was recommended for the award for his part in saving the life of a seven-year-old companion in the Delaware River on Sept. 6, 1958, at a time when McCoy was wearing braces while recuperating from polio.

Reserve Unit Taking Part In Parade

TROOP B, Third Reconnaissance Squadron, Ninth Cavalry, Stroudsburg's Army Reserve Unit, will participate in the Veterans Day parade Wednesday.

Following the parade, an open house will be held at the reserve center behind the Colonial Diner.

Capt. Charles C. Wilkinson, commanding officer, said the troop is now accepting enlistments from non-prior service men between the ages of 17 and 26.

Those enlisting will serve six months of active duty after next Jan. 1. Information on requirements will be available at the open house.

Refreshments will be served and weapons and equipment will be on display during the program.

Schools To Mark Date

STROUD UNION School District will observe Veterans Day tomorrow by holding a brief session.

The elementary schools will dismiss classes at 10:30 a.m. and the high school at 11 a.m. instead of the usual closing times, school officials said last night.

New York City To Lose Part Of Garment Industry

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City is destined to lose about 5 per cent of its garment-making industry to areas of lower cost and greater labor supply, a survey predicts.

But the study indicates the city will remain the center of design and merchandising of women's fashions.

Underworld Linked To Drug Sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new federal crack-down against bootlegging of amphetamine drugs, often called pep pills, has turned up evidence that the underworld has moved in on the racket.

Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming told a news conference Monday that a drive centered in Missouri, Illinois and Connecticut has convinced the food and drug administration of this development.

He said Congress may be asked to strengthen the enforcement laws in several ways, including a provision to make unauthorized possession of the drug a crime.

The new drive brought evidence that more than 200 operators of truck stops and similar establishments were selling the tablets, Flemming said.

Inspectors learned in some instances where the truck stop operators obtained the drug. As a result, several wholesale peddlers of the tablets were arrested and are being prosecuted by the Justice Department.

Sgt. Lionel W. Miller III

Sgt. Miller Given Army Discharge

SGT. LIONEL William Miller III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel W. Miller, of 178 Grove St., East Stroudsburg, has been honorably discharged from the U. S. Marine Corps, effective last Sunday.

Word to this effect was received here yesterday from his commanding officer, Maj. E. H. Walton Jr., commandant of the U. S. Naval Base in New London, Conn.

Sgt. Miller entered the Navy in August 1956 and served more than a year beyond his two-year enlistment.

At the time of his discharge, he was being treated for a heart condition at the Naval Hospital in Philadelphia.

Two Named Justices In Hamilton

A. RICHARD Snyder and Homer E. Osborne, Jr., were elected Hamilton Township justices of the peace at last Tuesday's general election.

The Daily Record incorrectly reported last Wednesday that Osborne defeated Snyder.

Snyder polled a total of 397 votes on the Democratic ticket for the post. Osborne received 524 votes on Democrat and Republican tickets. Two posts were open.

Mina Detrick, Republican, the other candidate, received 351 votes.

Tax Appeals To Be Heard This Month

MONROE County Commissioners yesterday made final preparations to hear tax appeal cases during this month.

Plans made at the semi-weekly meeting of the commissioners calls for appeals to be heard Nov. 24, 25, 27 and Dec. 1.

The cases will be heard in double daily sessions, made possible by using two rooms of the courthouse for the hearings.

In the meantime, the commissioners will make tours of the various properties, as in the past, in order to become more familiar with the individual cases.

Noted Author To Speak At Polk School

KRESEVILLE — Dr. Rowland M. Meyers, noted lecturer and author will speak at Polk Township Consolidated School on Thursday, Nov. 19 at 10:45 a.m., according to Harry T. Young, supervising principal.

Dr. Meyers' subject for the assembly will be entitled: "The Romance of Words." The lecturer presents fascinating and humorous stories about words that are found in everyday conversation.

In his unique talks, Dr. Meyers presents a series of ordinary words and shows how they reflect the past history of man on this planet, his activities and his thoughts, his moments of confusion, his hopes and his fears.

Dr. Meyers, a native of Brooklyn and a graduate of Dartmouth College, received his Ph.D. degree in romance languages and literature from Johns Hopkins University.

A PENN FUEL GAS AFFILIATE

Two Perennials Beaten

The political fate of two perennial candidates appears to have sealed last week at separate elections in two different states. We refer, of course, to Harold E. Stassen, who lost his bid to become mayor of Philadelphia, and to A. B. (Happy) Chandler, whose hand-picked candidate was beaten in the Kentucky gubernatorial election.

Governor of Minnesota at the youthful age of 31, Mr. Stassen is now—at the age of 52—a twice-defeated Pennsylvanian. He lost last year's bid for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in addition to being defeated in this year's election.

That would be enough for the average man. But not Stassen. Nothing seems to cut him down. Before all the votes were counted Tuesday night, but after the trend was clear, he let it be known that he may run for office again.

Even conceding he had a well-nigh hopeless task in trying to unseat Democratic Mayor Richardson Dilworth, his showing was so mediocre that his political stature was cut down sharply.

All his mayoralty campaign did was establish U. S. Senator Hugh Scott as Pennsylvania's No. 1 Republican on the national scene. The day that Stassen might have challenged Scott just didn't dawn.

Now he ought to take "no" for an answer, especially since it has been twice spoken.

Opinions Of Other Editors

State Is 'Fee Paradise'

The Tax Institute, a national research agency in Princeton, N.J., has just published an interesting study in which Pennsylvania is pictured as a tax collector's "fee paradise." There is, says the study, an "unseen hand" in every Pennsylvania taxpayer's pocket.

This is because Pennsylvania, unlike most states, continues to pay most local tax collectors on a fee basis rather than on a salary basis. The result is, that tax collection costs more than it should and tax collectors, who perform only clerical duties, become important figures in our political life.

"There is conclusive evidence," says Mitchell J. Hunt, who conducted the study, "that the Pennsylvania system is excessively costly and wasteful. Research has demonstrated that the costs of collection for Pennsylvania counties have ranged from two to eight times as much as in the neighboring state of Ohio, where the county system is followed."

The fee system, which has prevailed in Pennsylvania for the last 125 years, is used in most of the state's 5,362 (as of 1950) separate taxing districts and units of government. The three largest cities, including Pittsburgh, and a few other local governments that pay salaries to collectors provide exceptions to the rule.

For a closer look at how the system works, we refer to a study of Allegheny County published in 1955 by the Metropolitan Study Commission.

This study showed that there were 129 locally elected and one (in Pittsburgh) appointed officials who collected property taxes in this county.

Those officials collected approximately $69 million in taxes in 1952 (the figures would be higher now) at a cost of almost $2 million. The cost was accounted for by salaries paid to collectors in the cities and by fees and salaries paid to those outside the cities. The fees ranged from less than one percent to as high as five percent.

The Study Commission concluded "that legislation should be adopted establishing a centralized tax collection system at the county level, whereby all real estate, personal property and occupation taxes levied by the county and the individual municipalities and school districts are collected by the County Treasurer."

That made sense to us then and does now. We don't mean to imply that our tax collectors aren't good and efficient public officials. They are simply the instruments of a system that should be changed. In these days of steadily growing governmental costs, Pennsylvania simply can't afford the luxury of a wasteful multiplicity of unnecessary tax collectors.

'Penn's Woodland'

George Sokolsky Says...

New Imperialism

I listened to the President of Guinea talk about the freedom that has come to the world and an interesting speech it was at a luncheon given in his honor by the Mayor of New York.

As one looks at a new map of Africa, however, it is cut up into bits and pieces and Guinea and Ghana are two little areas which have gained their independence. And when the President of Guinea spoke of liberty, there was much applause and when he denounced imperialism, there was more. Men get so excited over words.

But let us see the picture: In 1939, the total population of the Earth was estimated at 2,100,000,000 human beings, the current estimate is about 2,600,000,000.

In 1939, the colonies of the Western nations amounted to 815,000,000 persons; today, they have been reduced to 84,000,000 persons. The change represents the break-up of the British and Dutch Empires and the partial reduction of the French Empire.

On the other hand, in 1939, the population of Soviet Russia amounted to 170,000,000 persons. This actually represented a loss of about 10,000,000 persons between World War I and World War II. In 1959, the Communist Empire, including Russia and Red China and their satellites, amounts to 965,000,000 persons and their land mass extends from the East of Asia to West Germany, encompassing two continents.

The new imperialism therefore is Communist and the map upon which I am looking includes Tibet as Communist but not yet Bhutan, Sikkim, Ladakh or Nepal, areas into which Red China will continue to move.

The new imperialism is a contiguous, unbroken area that runs from the Kurile Islands and Sakhalin to East Germany, from the Arctic to India in Asia and to the Moslem countries of Southwest Asia, into the Mediterranean.

It is probably the largest contiguous area ever held by one empire, although now two major countries coalesce into the empire. What the Communists are establishing is a universal state, the Soviet Universal State, which is an empire.

Should India fall to Red China, that part of the Soviet Universal State would dominate the Indian Ocean and the east coast of Africa.

Should India fall to Red China, the Moslem world in Asia and Africa could be reduced by a pincer effort between the two major nations in the Soviet Universal State, that is Soviet Russia and Red China.

While the small countries live in a fool's paradise of assuming that they are safe in the shadow of the United Nations, Soviet Russia is forcing unions of other powers, outside the United Nations, to defend themselves from its insatiable imperialism. Such unions are NATO, SEATO, and CENTO.

There will be other combinations, so that while every small state will imagine itself independent, it will really be part of a large combination of states which will, in turn, be part of a still larger grouping. Thus, small countries as Guinea and Ghana will be forced to attach themselves to one of these unions or to create their own.

The small countries will be wiped out during the next war, should it occur. If no war takes place, these smaller countries may have an opportunity for development and growth, but whenever war comes, their peril will be the same: Small countries will not be able to maintain their independence in a general war. Therefore all the small countries favors peace.

And in the United Nations, particularly the newer ones of Asia and Africa, coalesce in the hope that by sheer numbers, they will be able to control situations. Therefore, more and more the Great Powers negotiate outside the United Nations.

Should a series of Summit Conferences develop, it will mean that the Great Powers will make their decisions outside the United Nations altogether and that that body will not even be called upon to ratify the decisions of the Great Powers taken at Summit Conferences of which there will be several.

As a matter of fact, President Eisenhower's trip to Europe, Asia and Africa will be a series of Summit Conferences in preparation of the one that will include Khrushchev.

This will be a new development in international relations for what it will come to will be that the small powers will have local autonomy but no world decisions and that the Great Powers will determine all questions in their own interest. This is the way the world is moving — unpleasant as it may be.

Abigail Van Buren

You're Proving Their Point

Dear Abby: First of all I am going to be honest with you. I am 17 and my boyfriend is

20. I love him and he loves me. We have been going steady for 6 months. We have done a lot of petting and I know if we don't get married soon, we will go "all the way" before we are married. We are so much in love we can't help ourselves. He is working and I am still in school. We want to get married but our folks are against it. They think we are too young.

He said that if we went all the way and I got pregnant, our folks would have to let us get married. That is what we want to do. Somehow it doesn't seem right to me. Is there any other way?

TWO IN LOVE

Dear Two: Your immature reasoning indicates that you are not ready for the responsibilities of marriage, much less a family! A boy who really loves a girl will not ask her to do anything immoral, degrading or contrary to the wishes of her parents. Control yourself, Miss, and take a long look at this boy (in the daylight).

Dear Abby: I just had a big fight with my neighbor and want to know who is right. She has a three-year-old boy and I have two boys under seven years old.

Her boy (she told me herself) came down with the measles last Tuesday. He has been in my yard and all over the neighborhood in this condition.

She says she can't keep him in the house without tying him up.

I said, "TIE HIM UP THEN!"

She said that measles are no longer considered a serious sickness and that nobody is really afraid of measles any more. Shouldn't a child with measles be kept in the house, Abby, or am I crazy?

NEIGHBOR

Dear Neighbor: There are several kinds of measles, but measles are still considered a "illness" and even a "light case" shouldn't be taken lightly.

The Allen-Scott Report

Probers Study Charges

Washington — President Eisenhower is putting two of his top lieutenants to work on that long-dormant problem of what to do about the government's regulatory agencies.

At his direction, Attorney General William Rogers and HEW Secretary Arthur Flemming, in his capacity as chairman of the President's Advisory Committee on Government Reorganization, are launching separate "studies" of these much-investigated and scandal-plagued agencies.

Directly involved in these unannounced Administration probes are the Federal Communications Commission, Federal Trade Commission, Federal Power Commission, Interstate Commerce Commission, Maritime Commission, Civil Aeronautics Board, Federal Aviation Agency, and the Securities & Exchange Commission.

The other members of Secretary Flemming's group are Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, and Don K. Price, Jr., vice-president of the Ford Foundation and once an assistant to former President Hoover in his government reorganization activities.

The two studies will differ importantly in scope and purpose.

The Justice Department's mission is to thoroughly scrutinize the regulatory and other practices of all these agencies, with special emphasis on uncovering corruption and skulduggery.

Secretary Flemming's Advisory Committee will concentrate on the transportation agencies for the particular purpose of determining whether the President should recommend to Congress that they be combined in a new department headed by a cabinet member, who would be responsible for federal regulation in this vital field.

White House insiders deny there is any connection between these backstage "studies" and the sensational proceedings of the House investigating committee, headed by Rep. Oren Harris (D., Ark.).

It is definitely known, however, that the Justice Department is aware these probes are looking into certain explosive charges involving the Interstate Commerce Commission. For this purpose, Representative Harris has hired three staff members of the Senate rackets investigations committee.

According to information in the House committee's hands, underworld elements control a big East coast trucking firm and were able to directly influence an ICC ruling in their favor.

Key question in this TNT-loaded case is who gets the ICC files on the matter — the Justice Department or the House investigators?

Still Trying — The radio-TV networks are again being prodded by the Justice Department to abolish the "option time" practice — under which stations are required to broadcast network shows at choice hours, usually in the evening. This time the networks are being warned that unless they meet the Justice Department's demands they face anti-trust prosecution.

The Commerce Department's year-long transportation study is now slated to be completed next month. It will prescribe a "set of principles" which the President will ask Congress to approve as a national transportation policy.

Whitaker, and Baxter, high-powered California press agents, are handling the nationwide drive of the American Association of Railroads against "featherbedding" and demands for increased pay and fringe benefits.

A new sugar bill, that will directly affect Cuba, is being drafted by the Agriculture Department. The law allotting quotas to various foreign sugar producers expires next year. Under the Department's tentative measure, the President would have authority to reduce or cancel entirely the sugar quota of any country that expropriates U.S. property or acts in a way deemed "injurious to U.S. interests".

Already Brazil has let it be known it will seek, for the first time, to be included in the U.S. sugar quota system. Brazil is a major sugar producer.

Surprise — Praise of the New Deal is rare from Eisenhower officials but such a compliment was voiced by Dr. Raymond Saulnier, head of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. In a speech on the 25th anniversary of the Federal Housing Administration, he declared, "It is not too much to say that this law, enacted in 1934, is one of the outstanding social inventions of our time."

The decision of Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy to retire, after more than 35 years' government service was a particular disappointment to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. The West German leader, a warm admirer of Murphy and his adamant stand against the Kremlin, wanted him as U.S. Ambassador.

Adenauer recommended that personally to President Eisenhower, who readily accepted. But Murphy firmly declined, largely because of some differences with White House policy toward Premier Khrushchev. Also playing a factor in Murphy's decision to retire was the knowledge that he has reached his limit in the State Department; that Undersecretary C. Douglas Dillon will succeed Secretary Herter, if he should step out. Dillon is very close to President Eisenhower.

The Pennsylvania Story

Far-Reaching Decision

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — Lawmakers returning to legislative desks this week following their election recess generally concede that by a mere flick of a voting machine lever Pennsylvania's voters last week literally changed the face of Capitol Hill.

The change or transition itself will be gradual, although its effects already are being felt.

It all evolves from the decision of Pennsylvania's electorate that forthwith sessions of the State Legislature shall go on an annual rather than the present biennial basis.

On paper and on the surface the move seems like a somewhat innocuous move — but it is decidedly more than that.

The change from the every-other-year schedule to legislative sessions every year is perhaps the greatest single major change Pennsylvania has made to its Constitution of 1873 which originally set up legislative sessions on an every-other-year basis.

This point cannot be over-stressed.

It is true of course that amendments have been made to the Constitution before, but certainly few, if any, that are destined to have such far reaching effects as the annual sessions amendment cleared by Pennsylvania's voters one week ago today.

And yet in all of this there is a glaring touch of irony. Important as the move hap-

General Flooring Co. Offers Many Products To Improve Appearance Of Home Interior

WITH the coming of Fall and Winter, we find ourselves spending more and more time indoors. . . for that reason, we become increasingly conscious of our homes. Sometimes, a small change can make a big difference in its appearance.

General Flooring Co. at 915 N. Ninth St., offers a host of products to breathe new life into the appearance of your home.

Available is everything from linoleum to hard wood table legs in varying sizes. All types of tiles — vinyl, plastic, and ceramic — both in floor and wall tiles come in many different colors and patterns and are yours for the choosing.

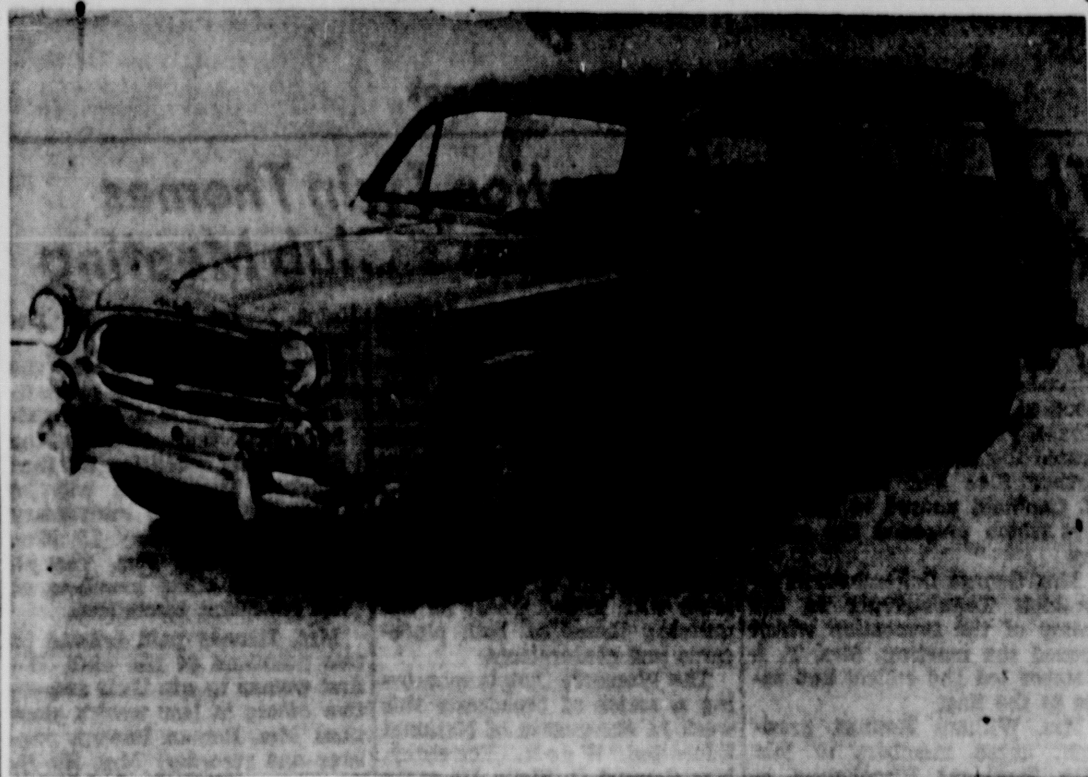

The best in Venetian blinds and folding doors by Modern Fold to make your home a more beautiful place to live are also included, not to mention tub enclosures, Formica coverings, Universe Aluminum Carports and all sorts of linoleums in every pattern and conceivable material.

Variety of Carpets

One of the highlights at General Flooring is their large selection of gorgeous carpets by Mohawk, Magee, and Alexander Smith. This is truly one of the outstanding collections in the county. Over 300 patterns and colors for you to choose from.

And these carpets come in wool, nylon, rayon, nylon and wool and the new miracle fabric Acrilan (the hardest wearing fabric yet). At General Flooring carpet size is no problem either. Carpets are available in wall-to-wall to small throw rugs and runners for your halls or stairs.

All these materials are at General Flooring or if you desire expert installation . . . Call on General Flooring Co.

SIMPLICITY OF LINES and spaciousness marks the new fullsize six passenger Peugeot "403" station wagon. Four large doors make exit and entry while the rear door swings a full 120 degrees for easy loading. A four cylinder overhead valve engine gets an honest 30 miles to a gallon with plenty of power. A four door sedan is also available. See the superbly constructed Peugeot now at Barrett Auto Service in Cresco.

Cars Have Built-Right Reputation

TRADITIONALLY designed . . . magnificently engineered, an automobile for the family, for business and pleasure. Peugeot has been one of the great leaders in the manufacture of automobiles since 1889.

A competitor of Peugeot (pronounced "Pooj-oh") said of the car: "Quality is the beginning and end with them. They don't care much about how their cars look, but they certainly make sure they're built right."

Of course looks are a matter of taste with everyone and the simple classic lines of the Peugeot made an instant hit with car buyers in America.

The Peugeot plant is in Sochaux, France, near the German-Swiss border.

Out of 19,000 employees including administrative personnel, 1,100 are inspectors. Individual assembly parts are checked with gauges and measuring devices to make sure that each part meets specifications and sub-assemblies are under the constant scrutiny of inspectors.

Manufacturers Turn Back Clock

PAINT brush manufacturers have turned the calendar back 30,000 years in their attempt to show paint brushes are still the best way to apply paint.

"Primitive paintings, brushed on 30,000 years ago, can still be seen today in a number of European caves," says the American Brush Manufacturers Assn.

Avoid Mud Nuisance By Blacktopping

THIS TIME of year when the weather varies from mild to cold, unpaved driveways and lanes can be most uncomfortable, what with mud and rutted conditions existing.

You can eliminate this dirt, mud and being tracked into the home by planning for a paved driveway.

The average blacktop driveway can be constructed, ready for use, in a day or less.

Just as a highway or a parking lot require good foundations if they are to require a minimum of repairs, a durable driveway must have a good foundation.

Proper Mixture

The right kinds of stone, sand and asphaltic cement — in the exact sizes, grades and proportions — are needed to turn out a rugged, smooth and long-lasting blacktop driveway.

For a thorough job that is both lasting and attractive, call Shiffer's Bituminous Service, one of the most experienced blacktop firms in this locality.

Trend Toward Bigger Houses

A NATIONWIDE trend toward bigger houses is reported by "Today's Home" magazine in its current issue. "All over the country," it says, "home buyers want more space for their money — more room for recreation, more for storage, more for the daily routine of family living."

In 1950, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that the average new house contained only 983 sq. ft. of main floor space. Today, the figure has jumped to about 1,500 square feet — an increase of some 60 per cent.

Coprox Prevents Seepage Of Water Through Masonry

IS A WATER SEEPAGE or dampness problem running your chances of starting that basement gameroom or workshop? If so, Fetherman's Paint Store at 766 Main St. in Stroudsburg has the solution to your problem in the form of Coprox.

Coprox is a copperized cement compound that prevents water seepage through all types of masonry, even in the presence of considerable hydraulic pressure. Unlike other water repellent coatings, it can be applied to either wet or dry walls thus eliminating trouble of wetting down.

Just how good is Coprox? It is so effective that you can completely waterproof a kitchen sieve or any materials as porous as window screen. Coprox has been proven in use by U. S. Government agencies, the U. S. Army, U. S. Navy, Veterans Administration, leading architects, contractors and thousands of homeowners.

Bonds To Surface

Coprox bonds mechanically and chemically to any porous masonry surfaces, producing an attractive non-chalking durable surface. It provides complete protection against dampness and wind-driven rain above ground . . . water pressure and seepage below grade.

Coprox can be used to control moisture in homes, cellars, exterior walls, pools, ponds, reservoirs, elevator pits, roofs and can be used as a lamination coating.

Got a dampness or moisture problem? By now you realize that Coprox can be used most anywhere to control water . . . It's decorative, too! Coprox comes in white and four attractive colors.

A visit to Fetherman's will solve all of your painting problems. They're experienced, and courteous, always ready to lend a hand. See them soon.

More Conveniences

Bad weather or a sick youngster needn't mean that a grounded Mom has to put her family on short rations for the duration of the emergency — not when there's a freezer serving as the at-home supermarket.

Today's new freezers not only give all these advantages but they come with built-in features that give the modern homemaker even more conveniences.

In the new Coldspot chest freezer, for example, a new blast-freeze fan circulates the cold air, freezes food fast and keeps it frozen evenly.

Freezer foods are easier to find with the new bright light while moveable baskets and compartmentalized storage space make for ease of access.

In upright freezers, the Coldspot offers new open-mesh cooling shelves. These shelves replace the old solid type and permit much better circulation of cold air.

Safety hasn't been forgotten — a magnetic door can be opened with a gentle touch even from the inside.

Coldspot freezers are offered exclusively by Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Lounging Decks

WOOD PATIO and lounging decks are gaining in popularity. It is estimated that use of this popular extension of the living room for outdoor life has doubled in the past five years. Western red cedar and Douglas fir are two of the most popular woods used for these decks.

Trailer Home Has Many Advantages

IF YOU haven't been in a trailer home lately, you have a surprise in store. They have all the comfort and convenience of a conventional home or apartment plus the added feature of being mobile. They have long been popular with people whose jobs dictate that they must move from time to time.

The past few years however, have brought on a steady transition of conveniences that not only give "all the comforts of home" but actually make it a home!

At Van D. Yetter's Marshalls Creek, you'll find a broad selection of the finest trailer homes available today! For instance, The American Pioneer, built by the American Coach Co., offers 23 desirable interior arrangements, up to three spacious bedrooms.

L-Shape Kitchen

You scarcely realize that this a highly maneuverable on the road trailer that you are in . . . a full 10 feet wide, allowing plenty of room. One of the most popular kitchen arrangements is the L-shape, easy to move around in and on so easy to keep clean and neat.

Trailer living is ideal for people who enjoy life and liveless time and effort to keep "straightened up."

Foremost to keep in mind is the fact that one of these modern trailer homes is completely furnished and includes all furniture, stove refrigerator, range, draperies and curtains, etc. and all tastefully matched and coordinated in color and design.

Long Research

American Trailer Homes, a result of 20 years of research and design, are available in front or center kitchens, one, two, or three bedrooms. Overall length is from 35 to 50 ft. Your local dealer, Van D. Yetter, Jr., will make it easy for you to choose and finance the trailer home of your choice.

You can visit his trailer display by going out Rt. 209, (East Stroudsburg) continue to Marshalls Creek, turn right on Rt. 402 and follow the signs.

Mirrors Among Top Materials

THE BEST possible time to inspect a lot on which you plan to build your house is "under the worst possible conditions, especially after a long heavy rainstorm," advises "Today's Home" magazine.

Then you'll know how fast surface water drains off, an important factor if you're planning a basement. Foliage can cover up a multitude of ugliness so, if possible, look the place over in late Fall or Winter, it says.

Coldspot Freezers Convenient

ASK THE average homemaker why she wants a freezer and she'll probably answer with a single word . . . convenience.

Once this appliance interested into the rural housewife, but now freezers are finding their way into more and more suburban and city homes and apartments.

Caught short of food when unexpected guests arrive, a freezer will bail out the homemaker with an assortment of ready-to-serve desserts. Seeing a good buy in any of the family's favorite food, it's easy to put in a supply when the price is right.

'The Daily Investor'

Investment Lineup

By William A. Doyle
Q. My grandfather died a few months ago. As my share of his estate, I received 100 shares each of Standard Oil (New Jersey), General Motors, Ford, Radio Corp. of America, Rohm & Haas, International Business Machines, Eastman Kodak, Polaroid, National Lead and Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing.

A broker friend of mine tells me that this is not a good investment lineup. He says it is too diversified. He advises me to sell these stocks and buy shares in fewer companies. He, of course, would get the commission on the selling and buying. I am a little suspicious of his advice.

Should I be guided by the broker's advice? Or should I sit tight? My grandfather's judgment in stocks made him a wealthy man.

William A. Doyle
may be even better suited for you than they were for your grandfather.

Those 10 different stock issues provide good diversification. On an overall basis, your stock holdings are aimed at growth in value for the years ahead. And, even though growth always carries risk with it, you have several built-in safety items in your investment portfolio.

If that's what your investment aim is, hang onto what you own — at least for the time being. But never make the mistake of holding blindly forever. Investment values change over the years. You should review your holdings frequently.

Don't be too harsh on your broker friend. Maybe his motives are as pure as the driven snow. But he should come up with specific reasons before recommending that you sell any of those stocks you own.

Q. One of the things I like about your column is that you don't claim to be infallible. So, will you admit to giving the wrong impression when you wrote about the extent to which accounts in savings and loan associations are insured by the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corp?

Isn't it true that the maximum amount the account can be insured for is $10,000 (not $20,000) — whether it is a joint account or not?

A. You are absolutely correct.

Q. I have been told that when a person makes sizable gifts, the donor (the person who makes the gifts) must live a certain number of years after the gift is made or else the value of the gifts will be considered part of the donor's estate for federal tax purposes. What's this all about?

A. This subject is known as "gifts made in contemplation of death." Under a law passed in 1950, any gifts made at least three years prior to the donor's death are not included in the donor's estate and are not subject to federal estate taxes.

If a gift is made within three years of the donor's death, the federal estate tax people would most likely claim that it should be taxed as part of the estate — even though a gift tax was paid, if a gift tax was due.

Battles over whether or not gifts were made in contemplation of death have resulted in some lively litigation in the courts.

Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.

Injuries Treated At Dispensary

INJURIES to thumbs and fingers dominated the attention of attendants at the Monroe County General Hospital Dispensary the past few days.

Mrs. Florence Miller, of Stroudsburg, and Melvin Williams, of Kingston, banged their thumbs. Mrs. Miller received a contusion when she caught it in a car door and Williams dislocated his left thumb in a football game.

Ten-year-old William Delaria, of East Stroudsburg, received contusions of the fingers of the right hand when he caught them between the edge of a pipe and the ground.

Brenda Torzillo injured her "baby" finger while playing basketball. X-rays showed a contusion.

Fractures Ribs
Leo C. Smith, of Canadensis, fractured three ribs when he fell and hit his chest on a wooden pole.

Donna Holland, of Tannersville, and David O'Connor, of Stroudsburg, were treated for injuries on the leg. Miss Holland had slipped and struck her shin and O'Connor injured his left knee in a football game.

Two stitches were needed to close a cut on the forehead of David Oney, of East Stroudsburg. While running, he had struck a tree.

Ralph Litts, of Bushkill, was treated for a dog bite on his right arm. June Cleveland, of East Stroudsburg, was also treated for an injury on the right arm. She had been struck by a closing storm door.

Leslie Gordon, age 9, missed a step on the stairs of her home. X-rays revealed a sprain.

Children In 9-12 Year Group Showing Greater Nervousness Than In Past Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government pamphlet says children from 9 to 12 years of age show greater nervousness and have more fears, anxieties and worries these days than in past years.

That is the opinion of many educators who have worked with children of those ages during the last four years.

The Office of Education published the results of the study in a booklet "Educating Children in Grades 4, 5, and 6."

The office said it found reassurance among the 1,300 educators who sent answers to such questions as these:

Are today's children of 9 to 12 different from yesterday's children of these ages? Is rebellion against authority becoming more apparent? What is a good school program in grades 4, 5 and 6? Summarizing the study, the office said:

Most children from 9 to 12 want to be useful, to try out their own powers in making and doing things. They want to think for themselves, but they also want to develop codes of behavior which will meet the approval of adults around them.

How a child responds to adults at this time seems to depend on relationships that have developed in earlier years, according to the teachers—many of whom are parents.

Children need and want to know what is expected of them. This is especially true when parents or teachers are indifferent to them, or when demands made upon them by adults are inconsistent.

In discussing present day tensions, the booklet says: "Among causes which teachers mentioned as creating worries were broken homes, parents away from home especially mothers, but also fathers, and lack of harmony between parents."

"Children seem much more aware of home situations in recent years."

"Some children even voice their desire to have parents do certain things such as 'Be home when I get there.' 'Tell me what to do and make me do it,' acts which are no doubt embodied in their 'parent ideal'."

"A few teachers said that children seemed worried by fear of failure at school."

The educators also expressed some concern about the competition of agencies outside the school for the time of the children.

"Every community organization wants to do something for children," they said. "And because each organization wants to survive according to its own plan, there seems to be hesitancy about planning together. Can't parents control the children's excessive activity loads?"

Why Men Join The VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

Because the V.F.W. works day in and day out for the welfare of disabled veterans—with a nationwide program of service and rehabilitation second to none.

Because the V.F.W. stands guard over the welfare of the widows and orphans of war veterans—a policy that is reflected in the maintenance of the V.F.W. National Home for widows and orphans, Eaton Rapids, Mich.

Because the V.F.W., in protecting such laws as the G.I. Bill of Rights, believes all veterans are entitled to equal treatment in the application of policies dealing with readjustment benefits.

Because the V.F.W. believes unemployed, needy veterans, who have rendered honorable service in time of war, are entitled to government pensions in amounts that will protect them against poverty and the stigma of charity.

Because the V.F.W. hand of comradeship is always ready to assist a comrade in distress and his dependents.

Because the V.F.W. is waging a two-fronted, militant fight against communism and other subversive movements that would destroy our form of government.

Because the V.F.W. vigorously opposes surrender of the rights and liberties of the American people to any form of world government.

Because the V.F.W. believes good citizenship is best expressed in terms of projects that help make each community a better place to live.

Because V.F.W. membership is restricted to overseas veterans exclusively, your Cross of Malta emblem is a priceless decoration—one which must be earned as a member of the Armed Forces—and one that can't be purchased with money, power or influence.

NOT SINCE the days of the late Carl (Corky) Smith and earlier than that of Dick Merring and crew have East Stroudsburg High fans seen such an explosive touchdown team as yesterday when the Cavaliers turned aside Port Jervis, 47-12.

While the visiting New Yorkers are not rated the top eleven in their state, Port, like always, showed a club that can move and give battle to any team on any particular day.

But yesterday, a Cavalier program built around runs that started at 85 yards and ran down to 25.

Eastburg runners like Brian Farris, Harold Myers, Vic Aiygin, Mike Puzio and even Jayvee by trade, Jimmy Steele, showed that they can run like the wind when given the room to exploit their speed.

The Cavalier blocking was something to behold especially on the now-famous Jack Kist kickoff maneuver where one back hands off to another and the last one with the ball hides it on his hip and streaks goalward behind a "chinese wall" of blockers.

We remember when Corky Smith used to bring the fans to their feet with this maneuver and in the early fifties it was Merring who performed these same Kist traits admirably.

Yesterday it was Farris and then Myers who went the distance on the Kist-planned plays. In between bull-like Aiygin, speedsters Puzio and Steel picked 'em up and laid 'em down like they were at a track meet.

We imagine Kist is smiling this morning. However, the stern Eastburg taskmaster won't be smiling long as he prepares his charges for a tough Lehigh-Northampton League tussle with Nazareth Saturday. Jack always plays one game at a time.

Perhaps though the Cavalier mentor will think about yesterday's bombardment at intervals as one of the many happy moments in a long and glorious grid coaching career.

Eight hundred fans who took in the fantastic all-the-way TD spectacle will remember also it was that good.

QUICK PICKUPS FROM HERE AND THERE:
Rocky Marciano, retired undefeated heavyweight boxing champion, has been offered $38,000 for a four-month exhibition tour of South Africa.

Someone must have the idea that the former Brockton (Mass.) Blockbuster is going to make a comeback.

Latest from Duffy Daugherty, the Michigan State football coach and wit, "I like those goal-line stands of ours, but I wish they'd make 'em around the 50-yard line where I can see them better."

Daugherty is one coach who actually can laugh off defeats and still make his alumni happy.

One reason why Ohio State is having its troubles is that Bob White, the Buckeye's All-American fullback of a year ago is engh in the rushing department in the Big Ten this season.

Good sources claim that affable Steve Owen, former coach of the New York Giants of the National Football League, will be let out as grid boss of Toronto in the Canadian grid circuit.

Notre Dame University celebrated the 50th anniversary of the Irish "Victory March" during the ND-Georgia Tech game over the weekend.

Only one sad note though, Notre Dame suffered a 14-10 defeat.

East Stroudsburg Smothers Port Jervis, 47-12

Cavaliers Long Runs Kill Visitors

PRESCRIBING the long run medicine in seven doses, East Stroudsburg High exploded for a 47-12 victory over Port Jervis High at Eastburg's Memorial Stadium yesterday.

The Cavaliers, in roaring to their fourth triumph of the year, started off on the opening kickoff when Brian Farris bolted 85 yards to a score and continued through to the last play when Jimmy Steele picked up a Port bobbie and ambled 54 yards to a TD.

East Stroudsburg, losers of two games and also involved in two ties, was in command throughout as they handed the visitors their sixth setback in seven games.

Farris' 85-yard return of Port's initial kickoff was a run to behold as he used his blockers effectively and then out-logged the remaining New York state players to the goal line in just seven plays. Full-back Vic Aiygin was the thorn in Port's side in this series as he picked up 75 of the yards and set up his own score with a beautiful 62-yard jaunt to Port's six. In two plays, Aiygin bulled into the end zone. Quarterback Jack Fellman added the 13th point via placement.

With 3:27 left to halftime East Stroudsburg made it 20-0 as halfback Harold Myers took charge and led a 80-yard, six-play sortie for a score. Myers, ala Aiygin, set up his six-point-er by romping 49 yards to the Port Jervis 13 and on the next play blew the remaining distance to paydirt. Fellman again converted and Eastburg held a comfortable 20-0 lead at halftime.

Midway in the third period, Aiygin got back into the scoring act again to shoot Eastburg to a 27-0 bulge. The Cavaliers marched 72 yards on this maneuver with Aiygin going the last 44 on a picturesque draw play up the middle and through the entire Port Jervis eleven. Fellman split the uprights for the 27th point.

With reserves in every position for East Stroudsburg, Port Jervis broke into the scoring column in the early part of the fourth canto. Quarterback Alan Russell led this drive, chugging off runs of 13 and 11 yards to a first on the Eastburg 22. Here the Port signal-caller whipped around end for the TD. Bill Bell's attempted conversion was no good and the score stood East Stroudsburg 27, Port Jervis 6.

Myers Goes 85
But this didn't last long as Myers, running like he never has before, took a handoff from Farris on his 15 on Port's kickoff and raced up the sidelines 85 yards for a touchdown. Again Fellman split the standards for the 34th point.

East Stroudsburg made it 41-6 a series of downs later when Port failed to gain the necessary yardage on a fourth and four situation and Eastburg took over on the invaders 25. On the very first play from scrimmage Mike Puzio squirmed off tackle and shot 25 yards for the six-point. Fellman's place kick was good for the 41st tally.

Port Jervis took the ensuing kickoff and drove 66 yards for a touchdown with Russell handling the ball on every play. Two Russell runs, and a Russell pass to end Gil Romaine gave Port a first on the Cavaliers 32. Here Russell tossed a 15-yarder to halfback John Morgan and he went the rest of the way into the end zone. Morgan's attempted place kick never got started and the score read 41-12.

Steele Scores
East Stroudsburg scored its final touchdown on the last play of the game. After Farris bolted to Russell on the Port 40 the elongated signal-caller lugged to East Stroudsburg's 46 where he fumbled. Alert halfback Jimmy Steele picked up the loose ball and took off for Port's goal 54 yards away. He made it with lots to spare and added six more points to one of the highest totals ever run up by a Cavalier eleven.

The attempted conversion by Dave Harmon failed but it mattered little as the clock had run out and a 47-12 Eastburg victory was officially posted.

Protective Pills Given Boxers
LONDON (AP)—British amateur boxers are being given experimental protection pills in an effort to minimize injuries received in the ring.

"Results are encouraging," said Dr. John Blonstein, medical adviser to the Amateur Boxing Assn.

"It has been evident so far that injuries received by boxers who took the pills cleared up considerably more quickly than normal circumstances."

The pills contain certain drugs designed to dissolve blood clots.

McKay Advances

Hurt's Baltimore
ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Major college football in Baltimore may have been dealt a death blow with Saturday's night's slim turnout—21,000—for the Navy-Maryland rivalry.

Capt. Asbury (Red) Coward, Navy's director of athletics, said Monday he will "strongly recommend" the two schools play future games on home grounds. He said he also saw nothing to change his previous opinion that Navy should pull out of the city entirely.

Wilkinson Fears Army
NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Coach Bud Wilkinson told a news conference Monday he thought it was a fine thing for his Oklahoma football team to be playing Army but added quickly, "we probably won't feel that way Saturday night."

The Sooners and the Cadets meet at Owen Field Saturday and already the game is sold out for a crowd of 61,700.

"The purpose of competition is to play teams who know what they're doing," Wilkinson said. "And Army is one of those teams."

Asked if he thought it would be a pretty even game, Wilkinson replied: "I don't really know but if a team gets going it can beat anybody. We haven't been an explosive club and Army plays real well."

Wilkinson said Oklahoma possibly will have an advantage in playing its three remaining games at home.

"Actually, the team has a chance to concentrate on a game when it is traveling away from home," he said, "but I think the warmth of home helps."

Palmerton Passes Down Bangor Eleven, 16 To 7

BANGOR — A passing combine that kept every spectator on edge for 48 minutes was too much for the Slayers of Bangor High yesterday afternoon in a postponed game with the Blue Bombers of Palmerton on the Bangor Memorial Park Field.

Taking to the air on the third play of the game the Bombers scored on a 54-yard pass from Bob Carazo to Joe Carazo and throughout the ball game the combination had much to do with the 16 to 7 defeat the Blue and White handed the Slayers. It was the third loss for the Slayers against five wins with two games remaining — one with Hellertown on Saturday and the Turkey Day tussle with the Green Knights of Pen Argyl.

The Bangorians played the entire first half warring off the passing onslaughts of the Carazo boys and the running of fullback D'ek Heydt. In the second half the Slayers came to life and drove in Palmerton territory most of the last 24 minutes. However the Blue Bombers had drawn first blood via two touchdowns, a placement and a field goal, the first kicked against the Slayers in many years.

Although the Bombers completed only three of 14 pass attempts they were good for a total of 95 yards, while Bangor's pass production was one completion out of 12 attempts for five yards. On the ground however the Slayers moved for 142 yards while holding Palmerton to a net of 68 yards.

In addition to early pass scoring touchdown a second was added in the same quarter. Following an exchange of punts, Bangor was in possession on the 48 yard line following a punt return by Bruce Jones of 8 yards. Lou Joella went off tackle for six yards but fumbled and Heydt recovered for the Bombers. On the next play Heydt went over the Bangor middle to the Bangor 30, here he later called to Joe Carazo who was trailing the play and he ran the distance for the second Palmerton touchdown.

Heydt Kicks Field Goal
A scoring novelty as far as the Bangor gridiron was concerned also had its place in the first half.

The Blue Bombers added a field goal in their scoring column. Heydt was called upon to attempt the kick from the 8-yard line, then the line of scrimmage. The kick was actually made from the Bangor 15 and split the upright for the three points.

In the early moments of the second half after an exchange of punts Palmerton was forced to punt from its own 18 yard line. Larry Albert and Sal Molle charged through the Bomber defenders to block the kick and Albert recovered for Bangor on the Bomber 10 yard line.

Slayers Advanced
Bangor advanced to the Bomber 4 yard line, then lost two more yards and the Bombers finally took over on the 8. Bangor again was headed for pay dirt following the punt return by Tim East, but Molle fumbled on the Bomber 15 yard line. Palmerton failed to make yardage and punted to the 49.

From this point with Molle, Jones and Joella lugging, Bangor made three first downs and finally advanced to the one from which point Joella banged over easily. Molle kicked the extra point.

Failing to gain with the ensuing kickoff the Bombers again punted and Bangor drove to the Palmerton 21 lost the ball and a later exchange of punts brought the game to a

STC Fifth In Teachers Grid Loop

JOHNSTOWN — West Chester and Clarion will share championship honors, if both teams next weekend can win their final games in the Pennsylvania State Teachers College Football Conference. West Chester is heavily favored to take winless Cheyney, but Clarion has a tough one against the rejuvenated Big Indians of Indiana.

West Chester's bid for a perfect season and undisputed possession of the STTC title was dealt a stunning blow at Bloomsburg where Coach Walter Blair, a West Chester protege of Ram Coach Glenn Killinger, inspired his Huskies to come from behind a 10-0 halftime deficit to win, 13-10. Thus West Chester's STC record 18-game winning streak came to a halt. The Rams were last defeated in STTC play by the same nemesis, Bloomsburg, on Nov. 12, 1955.

Lucas Best Player In Nation-Engle

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rip Engle is no longer thinks Richie Lucas is "the best quarterback in the nation."

The Penn State head football coach told a Maxwell Club luncheon Monday the star quarterback is "the best football player in the country."

After calling his team a "grand bunch of kids," Engle turned his praise to the student body.

"After we lost the Syracuse game the students stood and cheered the team after the game," he told the luncheon.

"It was the most inspiring sight I have ever seen," Engle asserted.

Lucas was on hand to accept the club's college player of the week award plus a tribute to the rest of the Nittany Lions.

When the fabulous quarterback appeared nervous, Engle explained:

"The pilot was giving me flying lessons on the way down here today and I guess Richie hasn't recovered yet."

Nomellini Pulls Rarity, Blocks Kick

By HARRY JUPITER
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ever wonder what it feels like to block a kick in the rough, tough National Football League?
"I don't remember feeling a thing," says Leo Nomellini, the San Francisco 49ers' great tackle.
Leo blocked Lou Michaels' conversion try Sunday with his chest after the Los Angeles Rams had come within 8 points of the Western Division-leading 49ers.
It was a key play and won the game ball for the ferocious 255-pounder. If Michaels' kick had been successful, the Rams would have been within a touchdown of a tie. There was still plenty of time left in the fourth quarter.
Nomellini, in his 10th season with the 49ers, is an old hand at blocking kicks. He's done it more than other players in San Francisco history—six times.
"If there's any feeling at all, it's a good one," grins Leo. "Even when you block it with your face, it feels good."
To hear him tell it, blocking a kick is the easiest thing in the world. But NFL kickers generally make well over 90 per cent of their conversions.
"I just make up my mind to do it and I went in with the snap of the ball," shrugged Leo.
With five games to play, the 49ers lead the Baltimore Colts by two games in the Western Division.
Are the 49ers going to win the championship, Leo?
"Boy, I hope so," the 33-year-old NFL veteran says, "but we've still got a lot of work to do. In this league, every game is tougher than the last one."

Syracuse Awaiting Bowl Bids From Orange, Cotton

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The Syracuse football coach, Ben Schwartzwalder, had a ready answer Monday when New York football writers asked him about a bowl game.
"We've already had our bowl," he said, pausing briefly — "The Oyster Bowl." (Syracuse played Navy at Norfolk, Va., last month in a regularly scheduled game called the Oyster Bowl.)
DA's Department
"Seriously, we've had enough bowls already," he added. "That is the department of Mr. Lew Andrews, our athletic director. I think Lew will talk to anybody about anything. I am just the football coach. Anybody Lew schedules we will play. I think Lew is ready to do business with the right folks."
Val Pinchbeck, Syracuse sports publicity director, said Andrews told him in Syracuse he had received no formal offers. However, the university's athletic advisory board meets Tuesday. An invitation might be received in time to be considered at that meeting.
The final decision, of course, will be made by Chancellor William Tolley. It is understood the players had an informal discussion of the bowl situation after Saturday's 20-18 victory over Penn State.

In the absence of any official word, it appeared Syracuse, fourth-ranked a week ago and headed for a promotion, probably was destined for either the Orange Bowl in Miami or the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.
Ride Series
Schwartzwalder outlined the basic offense of his team that has won seven straight.
"The ride series is the heart of our offense," he said. "The quarterback has three options. He sticks the ball in the fullback's stomach and looks to the defensive end. Depending on what he sees, he leaves it there or takes it back. If he keeps, he might pitch out."
"We are the only ones dumb enough to try something like this. We stuck with it although we had our doubts. It began to pay off against Pittsburgh. The last two games our ride series was back where we hoped it would be last spring."

Grid Giants Short On QBs

NEW YORK (AP)—Don Heinrich and Frank Gifford may wind up doing the quarterbacking for the New York Giants against Pittsburgh Sunday, coach Jim Lee Howell indicated Monday.
There's very little else Howell can do unless Charley Conerly, the No. 1 quarterback, or George Shaw, the No. 2 man, can shake their injuries quicker than expected.
"We'll have to have someone behind Heinrich if Conerly and Shaw aren't ready," Howell said. "And Gifford will be the likely choice, even though we hope that won't be necessary."

Gifford worked out at the quarterback slot during pre-season practice but was returned to the regular halfback spot when the Giants found adequate reserve strength with Shaw and Heinrich behind Conerly, a 38-year-old National Football League veteran.
Conerly still is hobbled by a severe ankle sprain he sustained in the Green Bay game Nov. 1. Shaw, who finally got his first starting assignment Sunday, jammed his right thumb in the 9-3 victory over Chicago's Cardinals and missed the entire second half.

Operation For Call Back

BERKELEY, Calif. — California's injured halfback Steve Bates underwent a two-hour operation recently for a fractured cheekbone and nose suffered when he was injured by Southern California, guard Mike McKeever. The surgery was termed successful.
The incident resulted in a bitter controversy as California officials charged McKeever with deliberate fouling.

In accordance with the general auditing standards, we examined the organizations the accounting records and accordingly include neither accruals and prepayments of items.

In our opinion the accompanying financial statements of the Area School Authority fairly present the financial position and the results of operations arising from cash transactions and disbursements for the year ended September 30, 1969, in conformity with the terms of the Trust Agreement and the related lease with the State of New York.

School Board Group Elects H. J. Drennan

BARRETT — Harry J. Drennan, of Buck Hill Falls, was elected chairman of the Northeastern State Regional Group of the National School Board Assn., at a meeting Saturday in New York.

Drennan, who is the new president of the Pennsylvania State School Directors Assn., succeeds Dr. Everett Sackett, of Dover, N.H.

The Northeastern State Regional Group membership is composed of the following 11 states: Maine, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, and Maryland.

The other regional groups besides the Northeastern are the Central, Southern, Western and Pacific.

Objectives

The object of the Northeastern State Regional Group is as follows:

(a) Support and strengthen the National School Boards Assn., Inc. and the state school board associations in the Northeastern Region;

(b) Act as a medium for co-operation among the state associations in the Northeastern Region;

(c) Provide media for the exchange of information within the Northeastern States Regional Group;

(d) Undertake such other objectives as may be approved by the Executive Committee.

Each state is allowed two voting delegates and one of the voting delegates is the president of the state association.

Missionary Loves Work, Hates North

BAKER LAKE, N.W.T. (AP)—After 30 years of labor in the frozen vineyard of the Far North, Canon William J. R. James still holds no affection for this bleak land on the upper west shore of Hudson Bay.

"I don't like the North," explains the 59-year-old Anglican missionary, "but I love the work."

His work is to bring the Gospel to some 500 Eskimos inhabiting a vast diocese covering 75,000 square miles of desolation in the Keewatin District of the Northwest Territories. His flock is small but what they lack in numbers they make up in enthusiasm.

Two Each Sunday Church services, conducted entirely in the Eskimo dialect, have become so popular that he holds two every Sunday, each time packing almost 200 persons into a 24 x 30-foot church.

Some of the Eskimos even show up for a third service, held in English in the afternoon and intended for the small number of government employees here.

Born in England, Canon James came here in 1930 straight from Wycliffe College at the University of Toronto.

Why did he choose so remote and harsh a missionary field? "I came here because of the challenge," he says. "I have no regrets. It is my life's purpose and I should follow it. Fortunately, my temperament is fitted for isolation."

Three Years One missionary had preceded him to this region and had spent three years among the Keewatin District Eskimos. But they still believed in vague spirits and a medicine man was spiritual leader when the canon arrived.

"The ice was broken, but I still had to go to them," canon James says. Today most of the district's Eskimos have given up their nomadic ways and have congregated at Baker Lake. Consequently, the missionary's dogged journeys into the wilderness to serve the natives as doctor, dentist and teacher have become fewer.

"The Eskimos themselves are very devout," the canon proudly says of his flock. "I love them, and I think that is what appeals to them most."

Atomic power in Caesar's day?

Certainly!

It was there, in the ground, in the air and water. It always had been. There are no more "raw materials" today than there were when Rome ruled the world.

The only thing new is knowledge... knowledge of how to get at and rearrange raw materials. Every invention of modern times was "available" to Ramees, Caesar, Charlemagne.

In this sense, then, we have available today in existing raw materials the inventions that can make our lives longer, happier, and inconceivably easier. We need only knowledge to bring them into reality.

Could there possibly be a better argument for the strengthening of our sources of knowledge—our colleges and universities? Can we possibly deny that the welfare, progress—indeed the very fate—of our nation depends on the quality of knowledge generated and transmitted by these institutions of higher learning?

It is almost unbelievable that a society such as ours, which has profited so vastly from an accelerated accumulation of knowledge, should allow anything to threaten the wellsprings of our learning.

Yet this is the case.

The crisis that confronts our colleges today threatens to weaken seriously their ability to produce the kind of graduates who can assimilate and carry forward our rich heritage of learning.

The crisis is composed of several elements: a salary scale that is driving away from teaching the kind of mind most qualified to teach; overcrowded classrooms; and a mounting pressure for enrollment that will double by 1967.

In a very real sense our personal and national progress depends on our colleges. They must have our aid.

Help the colleges or universities of your choice. Help them plan for stronger faculties and expansion. The returns will be greater than you think.

If you want to know what the college crisis means to you, write for a free booklet to: HIGHER EDUCATION, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, New York.
